Introduction

Briggs Advisory Group, Inc. is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission as an investment advisor. Fees for brokerage and investment advisory services differ among broker-dealers and investment advisors and it is important you understand the differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisors, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We offer wealth management services to retail investors, which include financial planning and portfolio management services. We provide periodic advice and reviews regarding your investment goals and objectives, personal balance sheet, tax & estate planning, risk management, retirement, education, cash flow and investment planning. In our portfolio management services, we will continuously monitor your investment accounts over which you provide us with such authority and provide advice. In your wealth management agreement with us, you give us discretion to determine the investments to buy and sell on your behalf and the authority to select other investment advisers on your behalf, which means we will make the ultimate decision regarding the investments purchased and sold in your account. You may impose reasonable restrictions on our discretionary authority which must be provided to us in writing. We require a minimum initial and ongoing account size for portfolio management services.

Briggs, in certain circumstances, may provide standalone advice in the form of Financial Planning. Clients may receive various written financial reports, providing the client with detailed financial information designed to assist the client in achieving their stated financial goals and objectives. Additionally, in certain circumstances Briggs may provide standalone services and advice to assist with estate administration and divorce settlement.

We will discuss the following questions with you to help you better understand the relationship you will have with our firm: Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Why or why not? How will you choose investments to recommend to me? What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

Please refer to our Form ADV, Part 2A Brochure, located at <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/firm/summary/291947> for more detailed information on our services.

What fees will I pay?

We charge fees for our wealth management services. Wealth management fees are charged as percentage of assets under management which are assessed on a quarterly basis, in advance. You should be aware that the more assets there are in your account(s) that we manage, the more you will pay in fees. This means we have an incentive to encourage you to increase the assets in your account(s) under our management. We may provide standalone financial planning, estate administration or divorce settlement service for a fixed fee/retainer or hourly fee in accordance with a written agreement signed in advance of services provided.

In addition to our fees, you may incur additional fees and costs related to the investments in your account, such as custodian fees, account maintenance fees, transaction costs, surrender charges, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, internal management fees of mutual funds, and other product related fees such as redemption fees.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

You should carefully review our Form ADV, Part 2A Brochure, located at <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/firm/summary/291947> to understand the fees and costs you will pay to us.

We will discuss the following question with you to help you better understand the impact of fees and costs on investments: Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?"

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment advisor, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means:

- Fidelity makes available to us other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit the client or its account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients' accounts. They include investment research, both Fidelity's own and that of third parties. We may use this research to service all or some substantial number of our clients' accounts, including accounts not maintained at Fidelity.
- There are referral/promoter arrangements, including direct promoter fee compensation, between unaffiliated RIA firms and Briggs. While the promoter's endeavor at all times to place the interest of their clients first, as part of Briggs' fiduciary duty, clients should be aware that the receipt of compensation by these promoters itself creates a conflict of interest. Accordingly, this may affect the judgment of these promoters when making recommendations.

We will discuss the following question with you to help you better understand the conflicts of interest we have: How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

How do your financial professionals make money?

Our financial professionals receive a salary and discretionary bonus on performance and the success of the firm.

Certain individuals in our firm are licensed to sell insurance products.

These sales result from business activities other than investment advice. This is a conflict of interest because the licensed professionals earn additional revenue when you purchase an insurance product.

You should carefully review our Form ADV, Part 2A Brochure, located at <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/firm/summary/291947> for more detailed information about our conflicts of interest.

Do you or your financial professionals have legal or disciplinary history?

No, please visit Investor.gov/CRS for a free and simple search tool to research our firm and your financial professional.

We will discuss the following questions with you to help you better understand our disciplinary history: As a financial professional, do you have any disciplinary history? For what type of conduct?
